'Under the Yum Yum Tree' Opens To Cheers at Studio Theater

"Guys and Dolls" was such a rousing success at the Studio Theater in Carmel that you would think it impossible to follow one such hit with another.

But "Under the Yum Yum Tree" does it, but without music.

The Lawrence Roman play opened last weekend at the Studio, superbly directed by Dave Kirk and delightfully staged by the theater's production staff.

While considered the ultimate in sexy stage plays when it first opened on Broadway in 1960, "Yum Yum" is, in light of today's stage film and stage productions, a light and frothy chunk of escapism.

The play contains half-a-dozen whopping belly-laughs, and the rest is one continuous chuckle from opening to final curtain.

The Studio's cast has handled all the parts with finesse and a great sense of professionalism, which is unique trait of Carmel theater productions.

Brian Jarman as Hogan, the irrepressible landlord, is a suave seducer and a delight to believe. If nothing else, you have to giggle at a man who seems to delight in being called a "leech."

And giggle the audience does throughout the play at Hogan's brashness and lecherous skulking about. Jarman does all this with a confidence that comes from his wide stage experience. His return to the locale scene after an absence of five years is most welcome.

Pam Keller plays Robin, who wants a platonic cohabitation experience with her boy friend, and thus furnishes the gimmick upon which the plot revolves.

Miss Keller is the perfect flibbertigibbet whose addled thinking sets her up for the attentions of Hogan, and nearly alienates her boy friend.

Rick Poe has that role, and he is thoroughly believable as a patient attorney dealing with the fuzzy-brained college student.

Poe is an officer at Ft. Ord, and has appeared in many productions on the Peninsula, and the experience shows up in his excellent portrayal of the accommodating boy friend.

Emma Jane Hansen turns in a smooth and polished performance as Robin's aunt, a divorcee who occupied the apartment before her niece, and is therefore familiar with Hogan's technique.

Miss Hansen throws away lines like a life-long professional, and her portrayal of

City Council Passes Edgemere Expansion Despite Protests

by Gunnar Norberg

Last night's storm conditions had not stopped concerned citizens from coming to the City Hall to listen to, or take part in, the hearing before the City Council to determine if the long-disputed Edgemere Cottages request to add 290 square feet of building coverage while rebuilding two of its motel units, should be granted.

It was an angry standing-room crowd which eventually heard the City Council vote 3-to-1 to approve the Edgemere request. The motion to approve was made by Councilman Herbert Blanks—and after a noticeable pause, seconded by Councilman Eben Whittlesey.

They were joined by Mayor Barney Laiolo in voting for approval. Only Councilman Frank Falge voted against the Edgemere request. Councilman Ken Brown was absent from last night's meeting.

First Protest

First to speak against the granting of the Edgemere request was Percy Wilson, who said he spoke not only for himself but also as an officer of the Carmel Citizens' Committee which, he said, "... has as members 602 citizens of this community."

It was Wilson who had presented the 39-signature appeal which had forced last night's City Council hearing on the Edgemere matter. Recalling that the Citizens' Committee had, last spring, urged its members to vote for the now controlling motel ordinance, he said "... we are now filled with consternation to learn ..." that the ordinance was so written that expansion both in building coverage and in number of units could be possible.

"Today there is widespread feeling that perhaps the only way to stop expansion of motels in the residential area is to call for, and pass, an initiative ordinance requiring amortization of these 17 motels now holding conditional use permits," he emphasized.

Arthur Strasburger, co-owner of Carmel Realty, said he felt deficiencies in last spring's motel control ordinance had not been attacked as soon as they should have been but that in any event, the Edgemere request should be denied.

Freeze Ordinance

Vice Admiral R. W. Hayler (USN-ret) said only the intent to make last spring's motel ordinance a freeze ordinance was emphasized when it was before voters for decision, and that the kind of expansion involved in the Edgemere request was not then interpreted as it is now. He strongly objected to granting of the Edgemere permit.

Carvel Baldwin said people who had voted last spring for the motel control ordinance, are now greatly disappointed since they had thought no more expansion of any kind would be permitted under it.

The only speaker who favored the Edgemere proposal was Bert Molendyk who said he had lived in Carmel in the 20's, and then had returned three years ago to make his home here again.

Withdrawal Asked

Just before the Council voted on the Edgemere request, Ashton Stanley, whose motel had been legalized last spring, and who had spoken at a previous meeting in favor of the Edgemere request, proposed that the owners of Edgemere Cottages withdraw their much-disputed rebuilding request pending amendment of the controlling ordinance. There was, however, no word from R. L. Siegrist, Edgemere owner, either then or earlier during the hearing on the request.

The ruling by City Atty. William Burleigh that the Council could only consider whether or not the proposed rebuilding and expansion would conform to the residential character of the surrounding area, seemed to many in the audience too narrow an interpretation of the Council's role, and one which should, in any event, not determine what the Council could, or could not, do.

During the recess which followed the Edgemere hearing, many who do not commonly attend Council meetings, expressed anger, consternation, or frustration at the Council's action in granting the Edgemere permit, and there was talk of court action; initiative measures to repeal the ordinance under which the Council said it acted, and even threats to start recall action against Councilmen who had voted for the Edgemere proposal.

No More Requests

The statement by Burleigh that no other requests such HIGH SHERIFF — Jack Davenport, center, sheriff of Monterey County, chats with Carmel Police Chief Clyde Klamann, left, and Phillip B. Smith, president of the Carmel High Twelve Club. Davenport told the group at its regular Monday luncheon meeting that narcotics use and traffic is the number one law enforcement problem in the nation today.

'Narcotics Out of Control' Declares Monterey Sheriff Jack Davenport

"The narcotics problem is pretty nearly out of control in a similar manner to liquor just before the prohibition era."

"Narcotics use and traffic have become the number one law enforcement problem in the nation. They have caused a tremendous increase in burglary and prostitution as its addicts seek money to support their habit," declared Monterey County Sheriff Jack Davenport.

He was the principal speaker at the regular noon meeting of the Carmel High Twelve Club last Monday at the Monterey Elk's Club.

Davenport said five years ago that the marijuana problem was prevalent with the 15-18-year-old youths, but that it has since enlarged to include the 21-25 age bracket, many of whom now have families being introduced to marijuana and heroin addiction.

Davenport maintained that the legalization of the use of marijuana is not a good idea — that such a move would only compound the present problems.

He told the group that in every instance of heroin addiction of which he knew, the habit was started with marijuana.

These remarks about narcotics were the highlights of Davenport's outline of his experiences and problems in the of law enforcement.

The sheriff, a native of Monterey, was introduced by Carmel Chief of Police Clyde Klamann.

GAY FLOWERS — GAY HEARTS — Placing the flowers that are part of the "Spend a Night in Vienna Where Hearts Are Gay" theme in final preparation for the annual Heart Fund Party are, from left, Mrs. Roderick L. Dewar of Pebble Beach, decorations chairman; Don Ponder, Holiday Inn, Carmel; Jim Hill of Del Monte Hyatt House, host for the event, and Miss Gail Kelley of Pacific Grove, assisting with interior signs.

Heart Fund Party Set Feb. 9

Final decorations are being put in place at the Del Monte Hyatt House in preparation for the Heart Fund Party to be held there on Feb. 9 beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Decorations reflect this year's theme, "Spend a Night in Vienna where Hearts are Gay," as will the many entries of Hôrs d'oeuvres offered in competition by both amateurs and professional chefs representing restaurants and hotels throughout the Peninsula area.

The annual event sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Hotel Association will feature cocktails and sampling of the culinary artistry between 5:30 and 7:00 p.m. plus dancing to the strains of "Old Vienna" music.

Tickets are available at all hotels, the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and many business establishments throughout the area.

Proceeds from ticket sales go to the Central Mission Trails Heart Association.

Food Production Rotary Subject

Bernard A. Anderson, former chief of personnel in the Food and Agriculture Organization of the UN, and now a resident of Carmel, talked to Carmel Rotarians about our technical assistance in food production in developing countries.

Anderson, whose activities with the United Nations centered primarily around Rome, Italy, was introduced by Steven H. Sassoon, the most frequent contributor to the Rotary Assistance Program.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Peter Meckel

(Last Week)

"Lights Out," generally a scheduled time on the R.L.S. campus, came with a surprising disregard for the daily routine and remained long enough to assure faculty and students that a significant debt of gratitude is owed Alva Edison. Leaving the campus without benefit of light, refrigeration, dishwashing facilities, and, in some cases, heat, the results of Mother Nature's temper tantrum could not be repaired for more than eighteen hours.

Winds and driving rain dashed a 25-foot tree against the main electrical transformer pole, smashing it to bits. P.G. & E. was prompt and extremely efficient in their repair work.

Despite the weather, the students were in high spirits celebrating the end of final exams and the completion of the first semester. They are now turning their efforts and attention to the next two weeks of work before they leave for Squaw Valley and six days of skiing.

Mrs. Garrison has begun the casting for Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap," which will be presented in John Lyon Reid Hall on March 21 and 22. The drama program, ever increasing in size and ambitiousness, has become a major contribution to the life of the campus. Plans are in the making for an evening of one-acts and perhaps a faculty show.

In one of the finest games ever played in the R.L.S. gym, the Pirates' basketball team forced Mora High into their first defeat of the season. Coach Goodwin is contributing an expertise and fostering a fighting spirit which will make all friends of R.L.S. extremely proud of the team's efforts. We cannot mention the week-end's sports schedule without giving a special good word to Cmdr. Kinion's Frosh-Soph team which beat Mora in an exciting overtime battle. The determination and skill with which the young Pirates played portends good news for future varsity squads.

(This Week)

A heart-breaking defeat was handed to the Pirates basketball team this week by Mora High. The two teams played the tie-breaking game for first place in the Coast Athletic Association, and R.L.S., coached by Wallace Goodwin, held the excellent Mora squad to a win by a margin of only two points. The 150 completely unbiased fans to whom we spoke upon their return to school reported that the Pirates played very well and battled to the very last second of the game — we believe them.

On the happier side of the R.L.S. coin, a record-breaking 114 students made the first semester Honor Roll — 34 achieved Faculty Honors (95.00 or above). In order of their grades, they are, as follows: Arlen Chase, Casey Charles, Andrew Fox, Andrew Wille, Robert Tarics, Mike Batelow, Matthew Haynes, Thomas Dillon, Lonnie Foy, Eric Haas, David Haynes.

Monterey Symphony Review

By Rachel Morton

Conductor Haymo Taeuber and the members of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra must have been highly gratified by the enthusiastic reception given their concert Tuesday night in the Sunset Auditorium. Certainly it was applause well deserved for the program was outstandingly fine.

There were shouts of "bravo" and a stamping of feet for the guest soloist, Niccanor Zabaleta after his virtuoso playing of two concertos for harp and orchestra.

A distinguished looking gentleman from Spain, Zabaleta has performed in most of the major cities in the world and has appeared as soloist with many of the great orchestras of Europe and this country.

It was evident from the first that here was an exceptionally skilled performer, who knew not only the difficult technique of the harp, but who also understood the soul of the music: in short, here was a great artist.

After a short, lively introduction in the Concerto for Harp and Orchestra by Handel, the tinkling tones of the harp rang out, clear and sparkling. Then came strong fingered dexterity in intricate passages in a gay interchange with the orchestra.

In the larghetto and allegro movements, the solo passages revealed warm sonority, exquisite trills, breath-taking runs and dazzling arpeggios.

The Concerto Serenata for Harp and Orchestra was written especially for Zabaleta by a fellow Spaniard, Joaquin Rodrigo, a very gifted composer, and proved to be the high light of the evening.

It was original in concept, richly orchestrated and interestingly dissonant in spots.

With finger filigree of extraordinary deftness, the harpist's hands flew in and out among the harp strings in a gigue-like rhythm in the first movement.

The "Intermezzo with Aria" and "Sarao" which followed gave the harpist an opportunity to evoke luscious tone color; to display glissandos that skimmed; plucked strings that were vibrant and strong; lacey runs and cadenzas that astonished.

The combination of such playing with a brilliant orchestral performance under Taeuber's able direction, brought a thunderous ovation for both conductor and soloist.

The concert opened with the overture to "Ephigenia in Aulis" by Gluck. Mozart's "Prague" Symphony was given a splendid performance, but it was in the "Variations on a Theme by Haydn" by Brahms that the orchestra, inspired by Taeuber's direction really came into its own.

In grand Brahms' style, the eight variations emerged — some profound and deeply moving; some plodding and heavy; one variation was almost feminine in daintiness and loveliness, and the last — a grand summation was Brahms at his noblest. The orchestra gave a magnificent performance.

Talcott Bills Would Outlaw Switchblades

Congressman Burt L. Talcott has introduced two bills into the House of Representatives to eliminate "weapons of violence from the American scene."

One would ban switchblades, gravity knives and similar weapons from manufacture and interstate sale, such knives having "... no legitimate purpose for which other types of knives ... are not equally well or better suited."

The second bill provides a mandatory jail term of 5 to 10 years for any individual, including first offenders, using or carrying a gun or other dangerous weapon when committing a crime punishable by a one-year prison term.

The bill provides that the jail term would be nonsuspendable, nonpardonable and nonconcurrent with any other sentence. Talcott cited the last Congress' Omnibus Crime Bill as "woefully inadequate" in prohibiting suspension of sentence and probation only on second and subsequent convictions, and not prohibiting concurrent sentencing.

"The tranquility and security which was enjoyed in almost every community in America a relatively few years ago must be restored," declared the Congressman. "One reason ... for the development of this situation is that the courts have been too lenient in the sentences meted out for various crimes."

OBITUARIES

James Amern, 72, resident of Hacienda Carmel for the past four years, died Jan. 28. In addition to his wife Adelaide, he leaves a son and a daughter and six grandchildren. Friends wishing to honor his memory may do so by contributing to the Cobalt Therapy Unit, Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

Celia Rohwer, 76, frequent visitor and mother of Mrs. Cecil (Lois) Starnes, Pine Inn auditor, died recently in Reno.

Vito Antonio Mazzone, 78, died recently at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pauline Noto, on Mesa drive and Atherton in Carmel. He was a retired electrician, veteran of World War II.

European Vacation for the Kippenes

After 15 years of hard work in this country, Arne and Dorthe Kippenes (they own and operate the Scandia Restaurant on Ocean Avenue) finally took a vacation to their native countries.

They returned last month from their travels which included an Arctic flight to Denmark where Dorthe was born and Norway where Arne was born.

The next leg of their trip was to southern Spain where they visited friends in a vacation home on the Mediterranean coast.

They were impressed with the explosive growth of apartment buildings along the coast of Spain.

Arne said the climate is similar to California's, prices low, and the area has become a favorite for northern Europeans to have vacation homes.

The Scandia Restaurant is now closed until Feb. 14, to give the employees a rest.

In the meantime, Arne and Dorthe are experimenting with some new Scandinavian recipes they picked up while they were away.

Carmel High AFS Girls Leave Soon for Schools in Japan and South America

Two Carmel High School girls, Lynn Fryback and Athena Shudde, have just been notified of their departed dates under the Americans Abroad program of the American Field Service.

Lynn, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Fryback of Carmel Knolls, was delighted to hear that she would go to Japan.

Athena, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shudde of Carmel Meadows, was particularly excited to hear she would leave for Argentina. She had been one of the 30 per cent selected last year who could not go because there were not enough families volunteering homes.

Lynn will live with a family of three children, two sons and a daughter, near Kamakura, Japan. She will attend high school with their youngest, the daughter Kayota. The school is attached to a women's college in Kamakura.

Lynn has a job ahead of her since school is conducted in Japanese. The AFS thoughtfully sent along language tapes to help her get started learning the language.

She leaves the last of February for the school year beginning in April.

Athena leaves Feb. 18 for Santa Fe, Argentina to live with a family which also has three children. It consists of Julia Elena, a university law student; Armando, a secondary student; and Viviana, eight years old.

Athena is fortunate that she has been studying Spanish ever since her Middle School days. She was able to write her first letter to her family half in English and half in Spanish.

Her school will be a Catholic girls' school, Our Lady of the Orchard, which is only a block away from her new home.

Those talented Slavins, Abbe and Martin, who run Zany's Zalad Bowl on San Carlos are at it again.

Abbe Slavin has recently finished writing "Zany's Uncookbook for Kooks" which contains many of the unusual but healthful fresh-fruit and vegetable recipes they use in their attractive little restaurant. It will be published soon.

She has also finished the stories for an animated series for television which will have music by music by Martin. It is to be produced in Hollywood.

Abbe's father, Edward Soester, from London, England, is their houseguest just now. Mr. Soester formerly played the cello and bass viol under Sir Thomas Beecham.

French Alliance Talk at MIFS

Mr. Marcel Blistene, official lecturer of the Alliance Francaise in Paris, will give a conference at the Institute of Foreign Studies, 440 Van Buren St. in Monterey on Wednesday, Feb. 12 at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Blistene is a well known French moving picture director and radio and television producer in Paris. His subject will concern his deep personal friendship with the famous French singer Edith Piaf and their mutual friend Jean Cocteau, French poet and screen writer.

Refreshments will be served at the Institute by Mrs. Theodore Bradley so that everyone may meet and talk with Mr. Blistene. The conference will be in French, but the public is invited.

Preceding the lecture, Mr. and Mrs. Sean Flavin will entertain the board members of the Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula and a few friends in honor of Mr. Blistene.

Political Romance Leads to Marriage

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ernst van Loben Sels will be the background for the approaching wedding, Feb. 9, of Kathryn Marie McCulley and Dr. Peter Lee Besag, both of Carmel.

The couple met when they worked together in two political campaigns. Dr. Besag was Monterey County chairman of Citizens for McCarthy and the Committee to Elect Alan Cranston. Miss McCulley was treasurer of both organizations.

They have both been active also in the newly formed Californian Liberal Coalition in which Dr. Besag serves on the statewide central committee.

The Rev. Karel Vit will perform the 2 o'clock ceremony and Jerome Wright who teaches anthropology at Monterey Peninsula College will serve as best man.

Mrs. Robert Buckley Kelley of Monterey will be matron of honor and Wallace McCulley of Pacific Grove will give his sister in marriage.

The daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Burrows McCulley of Pacific Grove, Miss McCulley teaches at Marina Del Mar School. She is a graduate of the University of California where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Besag, a mathematician, was also a Phi Beta Kappa and member of Sigma Xi at UC Berkeley where he was graduated cum laude. He earned a master's degree at Harvard and doctor's degree with great honors from the Faculte Des Sciences of the University of Paris.

He is the son of Mrs. Otto Besag of Los Angeles and the late Mr. Besag who was a composer and conductor.

Wedding Mass at The Carmel Mission

An 8 o'clock nuptial Mass uniting Renee Marie Haviland of Carmel and Richard T. Garnett of Pebble Beach was recently performed by the Rev. Felix Migliazzo at the Carmel Mission Basilica.

A wedding breakfast followed at La Playa Hotel after which the couple left for southern California.

Dressed in a mink-trimmed, beige silk and wool suit, the bride was attended by Mary Burton of Carmel.

She was given in marriage by Mr. B. J. (Skip) Burton who also served as best man. Mrs. Garnett is an alumnus of St. Benedict's College, Minneapolis, and the McPhail School of Music there. She studied accompaniment with Heinrich Hoelval, violinist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

An entomologist, graduate of the University of California, where he taught for two terms, Mr. Garnett is a life member of entomological societies in France, Italy and Belgium.

Now retired, he was from 1944 to 1960 in charge of communications and office services at Food Machinery in San Jose.

Christopher Keeble Engaged

A wedding in the spring is planned by Mary Sue Scott of Monterey and Christopher F. Keeble, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keeble of Carmel.

Mary, who is working as a dental assistant in the office of Dr. Ian F. Kinnear, is the sister of Mrs. Herbert W. Taylor of Monterey. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Scott of Elmwood Park, Illinois.

Christopher attended Monterey Peninsula College and California Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo.

He is employed by the architectural firm of Keeble and Rhoda. He has two sisters, Ann and Berit.

Now At Home in Pebble Beach

Jonathon Reed Gill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Henry Gill of Pebble Beach, recently brought back a bride from southern California following their marriage in Pasadena. She is the former Karen Kristine French, the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Walter Hand of Pasadena and the late John Martin French.

Storm Thomas Gregg Gill served as his brother's best man. Another brother, David Jr., ushered as did Michael Clark of Pebble Beach.

Jonathon's twin, Brian, was unable to attend the wedding as he was traveling in Europe. His youngest brother, Jason, is a freshman at Robert Louis Stevenson School.

The couple met at Raymond College at the University of the Pacific. They will live in Pebble Beach.

Chapel Wedding in Pebble Beach

Erdman Memorial Chapel at the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach with tall pines visible behind the altar was the setting for the marriage last month of Sharon J. Hutchins of Pebble Beach and Michael Tancredi, owner of the Hatch Cover Steak House.

Sharon was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Robert Hutchins, who with Mrs. Hutchins had come from Temple, Arizona.

Sharon wore a gown of old fashioned heavy satin in cameo color. She carried stephanotis and roses on a large muff of the same fabric as the gown. Her head piece was a large floppy bow with runners to the bottom of her dress. Her sister, Mrs. Lee Wells, was her matron of honor and her bridesmaids, lifelong friends from Scottsdale, Arizona were dressed in long sleeved gowns with tops the same fabric and color as the bride's and floor length skirts of chocolate brown velvet. They carried small muffs and wore small floppy bows with short runners on their heads.

Best man was Steven Matthey. He and the ushers were fraternity brothers Michael had gone to school at the University of Arizona.

Following a honeymoon in Mexico, the couple are making their home in Pebble Beach.

Former Flavia Flavin Welcomed Home

Looking radiant in a dress she had picked up in Hong Kong, the former Flavia Flavin of Carmel received a warm welcome home recently at a champagne supper party given her by her brother and sister-in-law, the Sean Flavins of Monterey.

Although she had been back since early in January, Flavia had not had a chance to tell her friends about her new husband, Soren Edgren, whom she married in Stockholm last August, nor about her travels in Europe and in the Orient, because of a bout with flu.

About 50 of her closest friends were present, many of them dating back to her childhood in Carmel Highlands where her father, Martin Flavin, the late playwright, had built a home. Reminiscences took second place, however, to the exciting news of her marriage and her new life in Tokyo and Kyoto where Soren is engaged in a two-year project in Oriental studies.

It so happens that Flavia too is a linguist and deeply interested in the Orient. She is studying Japanese there and will leave in April to rejoin him. Later they may return to Stockholm to live.

Flavia has as her houseguest, her dear friend Muriel Pulitzer who used to live in Carmel. Muriel, an artist who also works in stained glass, has been vacationing in this country before returning to her home in Paris, France.

Fortunately she was able to fly here from Boston to nurse Flavia through the flu, having just recovered from the bug herself.

Georgia's 12-Month School Year Proving a 'Peach' Says Educator

Mrs. Howard R. (Katie) Hunter, who served on the school board in Woodside, Cal. before coming to Carmel, has been doing research on the All-Year-School proposal now under consideration by the Carmel School District.

The All-Year-School does not eliminate vacations, it simply provides a choice of winter, spring or summer vacations, or no long vacation for those who wish to graduate early.

Important plus values are smaller classes and greater opportunities for enrichment not provided by the tight college prep course.

She submitted the following article from the Bellevue (Washington) American for Dec. 22, 1968:

By Steve Copley

Exciting things are happening in the field of education in Georgia.

Bellevue, Washington Junior High Principal Don Phelps found this out during a November trip to Atlanta.

The new full year program involves 22 high schools in Atlanta and totals 45 high schools in Georgia.

According to Phelps, it is important to note that the Georgia year-long program was initiated to improve the quality of the schools and not to save money.

A full year program, Georgia educators discovered, costs at least one-fourth more to operate than a conventional fall to spring school year.

Attempts have been made in the United States to run schools on a full year basis before, but these attempts were made just to keep schools in use. "No 12-month program initiated solely to better utilize facilities has ever been successful," Phelps said.

The idea for the change-over in Georgia came from a high school principal. Eventually over a three-year study period the change involved nearly all Georgia teachers — then began a gigantic selling job to the public.

The school system bought radio and television time and space in newspapers, explaining to the taxpayers that the old school year system was "archaic." The school systems had to change a way of thinking — they had to change attitudes based on the old school year.

They told the public that under the full year system, students would be graduating from high school at different times, and consequently enrolling in college at times other than fall.

But despite these disadvantages, the 12-month program had many educational benefits to offer. Set up this year on a voluntary basis, the program offers the students several opportunities.

First of all, the quarters that a student attends are at his own discretion. (Attendance during the summer is voluntary, and for the first year of the program on a tuition basis. Tuition may be dropped next year.)

The school systems have found that about one-fourth of the total student population will be taking vacations in each school quarter. This

River School Dinner

The River School Parents Club is sponsoring its second annual spaghetti dinner, Tuesday, Feb. 11 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the River School Cafeteria.

A musical group led by Dr. Harris Taylor will provide live music. According to Mrs. Sinclair Wright, chairman, tickets may be purchased at the school between 8:30 and 10:00 a.m., Tuesday, Feb. 4 to Friday, Feb. 7. Free baby sitting will be available for children under three years of age.

spreads out the number of students out of school throughout the year, making it easier for them to be employed during their vacation times.

Teachers benefit from the full year, too. If teachers wish to add to their educational background, they may take a quarter off during the regular school year when college courses are more available, especially for graduate work.

The 12-month system also helps educators cater to the slow as well as the gifted student. Students may graduate up to a year early, or they may take a year longer. Phelps pointed out, however, that there is some controversy about letting students graduate from high school too early in life. Some of them, especially boys, aren't ready to face adult or college life, even when they graduate at the conventional age.

However, the full-year offers even the gifted student the time and the variety of classes to explore many fields of academic interest.

The system allows classes to be developed on an independent basis. Courses that may be scheduled without regard to sequence may be taken by a student interested in a particular subject. In a sense, under the 12-month system, the rush for a diploma may be lessened or speeded up, but the student has a chance to take courses that are interesting.

Setting up the Georgia program was tedious and expensive. However, even with the disadvantages of extra cost and the tremendous amount of planning involved, educators throughout the nation are carefully watching what's happening in Atlanta.

Carmel High News

By Terri Jaseau

On Feb. 11, the Film Production Class will be sponsoring a dance and light show. The show will start at 8:30 and end at 11:30. Featured are the two bands — The Lemon Jade and The Nepenthe. The lights are by Acme.

On Feb. 3 some new classes will be added and others dropped for the Carmel High curriculum.

Composition will be dropped and Shakespeare will be placed instead, it will be taught by Lloyd Baskerville. Another unit of Ceramics and Crafts will be added. A second section of Film Production is planned. Literature in Film, Revolutionary Changes in Modern America both with two sections. But Modern Media will be discontinued.

An informal contest set for Jan. 25 was organized by Carmel High students for racing down the Carmel River. Each entrant was to contribute one dollar to the winning pot, winner take all. By Friday $40 was collected.

Any device was acceptable to race down the river. Various articles were: inner tubes, canoes, surfboards, kayaks, rowboats, rubber rafts, and an outboard motor boat.

After a stormy night, the race was cancelled till the next day. But over night, the starting point (Farm Center Bridge) was collapsing, and the race was called off.

Negroes' History Week Slated for Feb. 9 thru 15

National Negro History Week will be observed throughout the Peninsula Feb. 9 through 15 with a series of daily events planned jointly by the Monterey Peninsula College Community Development Office and the Peninsula chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The week-long program, coordinated by Mrs. Charles Cook, MPC community development officer, and Mrs. Ann Jones of the NAACP, will be launched Sunday, Feb. 9, with the grand opening of the MPC-sponsored Black Arts Workshop at the Seaside Youth Center.

Starting at 3 p.m., the opening will feature "The Happening Show" as a demonstration of the Black Arts Workshop in action. Brenda Kydd, a Bennington College dance student who is working with Mrs. Cook on setting up the workshop, has planned the show.

Monday's program begins at 8 p.m. with selected readings from the writing of important Negroes throughout their history. The second half of the program will feature the dramatization of the short story "See How They Run," with Mary Elizabeth Vorman in the dramatization.

Other events include an assembly speech at Martin Luther King Jr. High School, Tuesday; a dinner and art show for "Headstart" parents at Pioneer House Wednesday (not open to the public); a repetition of "The

Make Children Feel They Are OK Psychologist Cooper Advises

A man is as important to his child as he wants to be, said John R. Cooper, Carmel clinical psychologist, as he answered questions from the audience at a discussion of how divorce affects children.

The discussion was one in the SOS series on divorce problems sponsored by Parents Without Partners.

A child's attitude toward himself is developed early, he said. He needs to feel that it is all right to be whatever he is.

Some parents give children the impression that they are OK only if they produce, he said.

Whether apart or together they can still give children OK messages in any family arrangements.

"What do I tell my little girl when she asks why her Daddy doesn't love her if he's away all the time?" asked a mother.

"What she's really asking," answered Dr. Cooper, "Is 'Am I loveable?' The thing to do is make her feel she's loveable no matter what."

Cooper, of the Carmel Institute of Transactional Analysis, strongly disapproved of letting children sleep with the mother when they feel insecure, saying it led to unpleasant consequences.

At the next meeting, Mrs. Elaine D. Johnson, sociology professor at Monterey Peninsula College, will compare man and woman relationships in other countries. She will also speak on self-fulfillment, job, career, and children as they affect a woman.

The talk will be given at Pacific Grove Community Center on Junipero, north of Forest Ave. on Wednesday, Feb. 12, at 8 p.m.

A small discussion group meets on Tuesday evenings in a private home in Monterey. For further information call 373-0553 after 5:30.

Student Exchange At Middle School

Middle School will be host to five eighth grade Seaside students from Martin Luther King Junior High on Feb. 6. They will attend classes with five students from Middle School.

The following day, the five eighth grade Middle School students will spend the day at King Junior High and be shown around by the same students they guided the day before.

A new program to exchange students for a day with other junior high schools on the Monterey Peninsula was recently started by the Monterey Unified School District.

"Happening Show" at Monterey High School — this time utilizing the talents of MHS students and faculty — Thursday; a Valentine concert and dance at the Seaside Youth Center, Friday; and the showing of a film on Negro history by Maj. James C. Taylor, president of the NAACP, on Saturday probably in Pacific Grove.

All events will be open to the public without charge except the Wednesday event at Pioneer House.

Movie Review

Anyone Can Play — Italian farce that explores the extra-marital activities of four restless Roman beauties. Hilarious fare for adults only.

Romeo and Juliet — Franco Zeffirelli's production starring Leonard Whiting, 17 as Romeo and Olivia Hussey, 16, as Juliet. A sensitive and poetic picture shot in northern Italy where the tragedy actually occurred.

The Strange Affair — A naive young constable on the London force is drawn into the frame-up of some drug dealers. Michael York and Jeremy Kemp star.

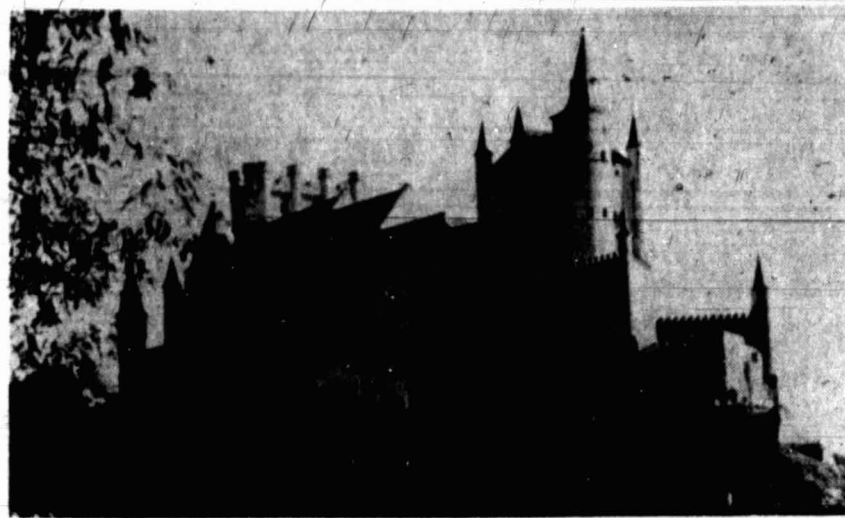

A Lovely Way To Die — Kirk Douglas as a cop who quits, the force and takes the job as a bodyguard to Sylvia Koscina. Similarity in the story to the Candy Mosier case.

The Lion In Winter — Peter O'Toole and Katherine Hepburn turn in outstanding performances in this drama of Henry II and his queen. Great dialogue and a great film.

Lady in Cement — Frank Sinatra and Raquel Welch should be enough without anything else, but the plot is tight, the action fast and the film worth seeing.

Belle de Jour — Excellent exploration of a young wife's psychological problems. Outstanding characterizations by Catherine Deneuve and Genevieve Page.

The Subject Was Roses — Patricia Neal returns to the screen in this story of a soldier returning home after the war. Martin Sheen and Jack Albertson are also in the cast.

CASTLE IN SPAIN — For generations the epitome of successful dreaming has been a castle in Spain. Here is The Alcazar, an honest to goodness castle in Spain, a feature of the color film "Portraits of Spain" coming to the Sunset Auditorium on Friday, Feb. 21. The presentation is part of the Explorerama series sponsored by the Explorers Club of San Francisco.

Color Film 'Portraits of Spain' Captures Flavor of People

"Portraits of Spain", an award winning 2-hour, color travel-adventure film will be the next offering of the Explorerama series which is presented by The Explorers Club of San Francisco in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium.

The new film will be narrated in person by its photographer, Curtis Nagel, at 8:15 p.m., Friday, Feb. 21.

Curtis Nagel, who was one of the original developers of the Technicolor process, has recently returned from Spain with a film that captures the feeling and spirit of that colorful country. Highlights include the cities of Madrid, Valencia, Granada, Barcelona and Toledo.

The program features the "Running of the bulls" at Pamplona, the colorful Fair of Seville, the pagentry and spectacle of the bullfight, the Alhambra, the picturesque views of the Costa Brava, the basque country and gypsy flamenco dancers. The program is accompanied by full stereophonic musical backgrounds and sound effects which were recorded on-the-spot in Spain and features a special guest appearance by Hollywood actress Audrey Hepburn.

Reserved seats are now available at Central Box Office in Carmel, phone 624-6739 and Abinante Music Store in Monterey, phone 372-5893. Reserved seats series tickets for the final programs of the series are also still available. The final three programs include the Spain film and "The Blue Danube" with National Geographic photographer Phil Walker, Saturday, Mar. 22. This film was shot in Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria. The final film, "I Love Mexico" with Thayer Soule will be shown on Friday, Apr. 11.

'When We Are Married' New Farce Opening at Circle Feb. 14

An evening of hilarious fun is in store for playgoers when J. B. Priestly's farce comedy "When We Are Married" opens Friday, Feb. 14, at the Circle Theater, Carmel, under the sponsorship of the Community Theater of the Monterey Peninsula.

Master playwright Priestly has set the action of his play in the sitting room of Alderman Helliwell's house in Cleckleywyke, a small village in England at the turn of this century. Gathered together to celebrate twenty-five years of wedded bliss are the Helliwells, the Parkers and the Sopitts, all very proper and genteel citizens of the community.

The happy celebration party is still in progress when Gerald, the young organist from the village church arrives. He has been summoned to the Alderman's home to be chastised for being seen out late at night with girls.

Pompously, Parker and Sopitt join Helliwell in berating Gerald for what they call loose morals. He is warned by the three gentlemen that the church will not tolerate such goings-on and that if he wishes to remain untainted and above reproach, he should keep his mind on his organ and not on the girls.

Calmly, but with a great deal of glee, young Gerald looks the three men squarely in the eyes and drops a verbal bomb of startling proportions.

He informs the trio of respected leading churchgoers that he has discovered that Parson Beach, who supposedly married them twenty-five years before, had not yet been qualified to perform the marriage ceremony, so therefore the upstanding Helliwells, the Parkers and the Sopitts have, since their supposed wedding day, been living in sin.

The effect of this announcement is cataclysmic.

Before things are settled again, lives are jarred amusingly and smugness gives way to madcap hysterical adventure.

Director Charles Thomas has appropriately set Valentine's Day as the opening performance. Thereafter, "When We Are Married" will play for six weekends through Mar. 22. Curtain time is at 8:30 on Fridays and Saturdays, with an early performance at 7:30 on Sundays only. The Community Theater recommends this play as entertainment for the entire family.

The current musical attraction at the Circle, "The Roar of the Greasepaint—the Smell of the Crowd" has been held over. The final two performances will be given this Friday and Saturday, Feb. 7 and 8.

Eide Oils Show For Foundation

Mrs. Kyrre Eide will show the oil paintings of her late husband Professor Kyrre Eide at The Carmel Foundation Town House during the month of February.

Professor Eide was born in Norway, attended Engineering School in New York. He was a self-taught artist. He enjoyed painting landscapes and seascapes.

He taught German and Norwegian at the Defense Language Institute until his death in 1959. The Carmel Foundation Town House is located in Lincoln and 8th and is open to the public 10 to 5 weekdays.

Theatre Guide

The Roar of Grease Paint, Smell of the Crowd—Comedy musical - drama about the haves and the don't haves. Great entertainment at the Circle, playing to packed houses. This is the theatrical season in Carmel, so reservations for all live performances in town, please.

Guys and Dolls — Damon Runyon's Broadway smash concerning a floating crap game, a Salvation Army lassie and lots of guys and their dolls. Runyonese became a part of the American scene with the success of this musical.

There have been bleak days when we thought rather seriously of selling our ivory tower to some struggling billiard ball manufacturer.

PAYMENT IN BLOOD

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Valentines for Dessert"

Especially as Valentine's is on Friday this year, what a live-long weekend of partying is taken for granted, particularly by the young.

An evening of dancing with an array of desserts and pink punch is the light-hearted approach to Valentine fun.

Let's set up a tentative schedule for a share-the-expense party that a group of teenagers would enjoy in a rec room. After school on Friday (Valentine's Day), food, decorations and entertainment committees meet at whatever home they have had permission to use to make the final preparations.

The schedule:

6:00 for family meal, and dress in party best or Valentine type clothes.

8:00 party begins. Play games, dance.

9:30 Serve fancy Valentine desserts and punch.

Continue as long as permitted!

The Menu

Pretty Pink Cranberry Punch
Sandwich Bar
Valentine Desserts

Pretty Pink Cranberry Punch

One 46-oz. can grapefruit juice; 1 46-oz. can pineapple juice; six 16-oz. bottles cranberry juice, all chilled; two 28-oz. bottles gingerale.

Combine juice with gingerale; pour over ice in punch bowl. Makes 40 punch cup servings or use Valentine motif disposable cups.

Do-It-Yourself Sandwich Bar

Food committee has set up a buffet table for sandwich makings. These consist of attractively arranged cold meats, cheeses, peanut butter, deviled egg mixture, tuna salad or whatever the budget and preferences indicate.

Varied types of bread and crackers are of course on display with butter, mayonnaise, mustard, pickles and potato or corn chips. Each makes his/her own "Dagwood."

Before describing the desserts, here are a few suggestions for decorations in the Valentine mood.

Cutouts of "I Love You" to be pinned or stapled on red paper table cover. Centerpiece of heart-shaped philodendron for this inexpensive plant is already heart shaped as nature made it. These are just rather conventional ideas, so young people create your own decor.

Although you youngsters may prefer just to dance and play records, it's diverting and different to play a few games during the evening such as:

Valentine Relay: Place two chairs at one end of room, with empty baskets on each chair. At another end of room, have two more chairs also containing a basket each. These baskets hold red hearts (from "Ten-cent" store or homemade). Colorful soda straws are also provided for each player.

Supply each player with a straw. Divide players into two teams; members of each line up behind their captain at one end of chairs with the empty basket. At the word "GO", captain races to opposite end of room, picks up a heart at the end of his straw by sucking in his breath, then races back to chair at opposite end of rooms and drops heart into that basket. Next player follows suit. If heart drops, player must get down and suck it onto end of straw again. First team to finish gets a real or candy kiss!

So much for games. And now to desserts.

Strawberry Squares

One roll refrigerated cookies; 3/4 cup strawberry preserves; 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese; 1 cup dairy sour cream; 1/4 cup sugar; 1 egg; 1/2 t. vanilla.

Slice cookie roll 1/4-inch thick; place sides in bottom of ungreased 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 375 F. until light golden brown. Cookie dough will appear puffy when removed from oven. Gently spread with preserves.

In large mixer bowl, combine remaining items and beat at medium speed until smooth. Pour over preserves layer. Spread filling to edges. Bake at 375 F. until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool and cut into bars. Makes 24. Each may be topped with sliced fresh strawberries moistened with "Dream Whip".

Valentine Heart Cake

Two round 8 or 9 inch cake layers; 7 Minute Frosting tinted pink; red cinnamon candies; 1 cup flaked coconut.

Bake the cake layers from a cake mix or a favorite recipe. Cool. Place on large plate. Spread the frosting between the two layers.

From one side of the cake, cut out a wedge about 3 1/2 inches wide and 3 inches deep. Place this wedge at opposite edge of cake to form point of heart. Cover top and sides of cake with remaining frosting.

On top of cake use cinnamon candies to outline a heart about 3 1/2 inches wide and 4 inches deep. Fill in the heart with more candies. Sprinkle coconut around this heart and on sides of cake.

The frosting comes prepared in a package. Follow directions. This is something for the girls to be proud to make for the boys.

Fresh whole strawberries with long stems are also a delight. Just dip into powdered sugar. Make heart shaped cookies. Serve strawberry or raspberry ice cream or sherbet.

The following should round out the desserts:

Strawberry Instant Tortoni

Half pint vanilla ice cream, softened at room temperature or in bottom refrigerator. One and a half cups cold milk; 1/2 cup light cream; 1

pkg. strawberry instant pudding 1/2 cup macaroon crumbs.

Coat paper cupcake liners with the softened ice cream. Pour milk and cream into mixing bowl. Add pudding mix and beat slowly with egg beater just until well mixed. Do not overbeat; mixture will be thin. Spoon pudding over ice cream in liners. Freeze until firm but not solid. Top each tortoni with macaroon crumbs. Makes 8-10.

Scouts On TV

Alden G. Barber, chief executive of the 6-million member Boy Scouts of America has announced that Warner Brothers—Seven Arts and the Boy Scouts will join forces in the development and production of a new half-hour, prime time TV dramatic series for the 1969-70 network season.

The announcement was made jointly by Barber and Donald E. Klauber, executive vice-president in charge of Warner Brothers—Seven Arts television activities.

Upon signing the agreement with the Scouts, Klauber said, "A series involving the young and growing generation of this country is essential and important." Barber pointed to Warner Brothers—Seven Arts successful FBI series and stated that "they are ideally suited to produce a series with the Boy Scouts of America of the same quality, importance, and acceptance."

"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there." These verses from Psalms are part of the Responsive Reading included in the Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this week. The lesson is titled "Spirit."

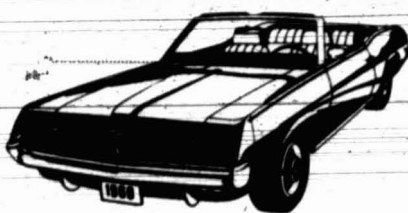

Among related passages to be read from the denominational textbook Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy is the following: "Man walks in the direction towards which he looks, and where his treasure is, there will his heart be also. If our hopes and affections are spiritual, they come from above, not from beneath, and they bear as of old the fruits of the Spirit."

Padres Edge Nearer Championship, Trounce Palma and Pacific Grove

By Hal Gann

By taking two important league victories last week, Carmel's Padres launched themselves into a three-game orbit over their nearest rivals in the Mission Trail Athletic Basketball League.

A week ago Tuesday they edged Palma, last year's champ, 65-59, in Salinas, and last Friday night turned back Pacific Grove for the second time this season, 70-62.

Carmel journeys to Felton to play San Lorenzo Valley tomorrow night, and the next Padre sportscast is next Tuesday, Feb. 11, 7:30 p.m. over KRSA-FM, (100.7 Mc), for part of the JV and all of the varsity contest with King City, in dangerous Mustang territory.

In the Palma tilt, it was star center Bruce Winkler's fine rebounding and timely interceptions and near-the-hoop shooting that picked up Carmel when the Chieftans came to within three points of the lead on three different occasions.

And Coach Jason Hafbert had much praise for forward Chris Laiolo's fine defending of Palma's Rick Morrison, one of the league's top scorers with an average of 18 per game. Laiolo, while holding the dangerous Morrison to 10, scored 16 himself and came through with many assists to receive the Most Valuable Player Broadcast Award.

But it was on Friday night when Winkler established a new Carmel High individual scoring record, a whopping 42 points against Pacific Grove, much to the delight of hometown fans who overflowed the Carmel gymnasium. Winkler must have established another record, too, when he hit for an unbelievable 19 tallies in the third quarter. Had he maintained this pace, Bruce would have scored 76 for the night.

The 6-foot-5-inch senior hit for only 20 against Palma, but still grabbed high-point laurels in that contest also, as the Chieftans' Mike Gutierrez (averaging 14.5 points per game) fouled out with 18 points, with four minutes remaining in the game.

Against Palma and Pacific Grove, Laiolo collectively had 25; junior forward Steve Taylor had 18, senior guard Ross Smith had 13 and that just about tells the story in the scoring department.

On defense these two games were highlighted by the ball-hawking abilities of Smith, Winkler, and Taylor, as Coach Hafbert constantly surprised the opposition, staging variations of the press, sometimes half-court, other times full-court, on a man-for-man basis, and pulling out something new against the Breakers, a full court zone press.

Now, the Padres proudly have nine victories against no defeats, and many local fans already are talking about Santa Cruz, a team Carmel must play after winning the MTAL.

The Cardinals, who lost in the finals of the Northern California Prep Playoffs at Stanford University last year, also have a perfect league slate, and lost only one player from last year's championship Monterey Bay League team. The winner of the possible Santa Cruz-Carmel game would be bound for the tournament at Stanford University's splendid new field house.

For Carmel to play at Stanford would be a dream-come-true for local fans, as the Padres have had only four league championship teams since the start of the school in 1940, with two back-to-back crowns in 1960 and 61.

Teachers to Hold Carmel Meeting On Techniques

CARMEL — More than 250 teachers will take an in-depth look at new teaching methods at the Fifth Annual Improvement of Instruction Conference at the Holiday Inn here Feb. 8, sponsored by the Central Coast Section, California Teachers Association (CTA).

Dr. Donald H. Parker, author of "Schooling for Individual Excellence" and other educational books and materials, is scheduled as keynote speaker at 10 a.m. He is a resident of Big Sur, and director of the Institute for Multi-level Learning International.

Other participants at the all-day conference, keyed to the theme "Is Your Psychology of Learning Outmoded?" include:

Dr. Charles Hamilton, CTA Teacher Education and Professional Standards Department, on "New Staffing Arrangements — Teacher Aides."

CTA-Southern Section Institute for Teaching, on "Teaching Machines and Teachers."

Fred Rosenau, Far West Regional Laboratory, on laboratory projects including micro-teaching.

Walter Coombs, CTA Instruction Center, on "Changing Curriculum."

John Kingsley, Monterey Peninsula Junior College, on "Techniques in Classroom Dialogue."

Lucile Scholefield, Monterey Bay Teachers Association, conference chairman, said the program stresses the use of multi-level learning materials and techniques, which make it possible for schools to break away from today's rigid grade placement for emphasis on techniques that permit students to be involved in individualized learning.

County Symphony Will Perform at MPC

Tradition will be broken on Sunday, Mar. 23, when the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra adds a third concert performance to its schedule, it was announced today by Symphony Association President James M. R. Glaser.

The additional concert will be played in the new Gymnasium Auditorium at Monterey Peninsula College.

In the past, the Symphony Orchestra has restricted its performance to two central auditoriums — at Salinas High School on Monday evenings, and at Carmel's Sunset Center Auditorium the following night.

Glaser stated that the special Monterey concert is being scheduled on "an experimental basis because of the overwhelming demand for FASCINATION — The big bassoon is an elongated instrument with many keys, stops and knobs, and for Bill Priestley, left, and Stacey and Carolyn White, it is a source of fascination, particularly with Jim Bernhardt, bassoonist with the Monterey County Symphony, explains its working. The Junior League is sponsoring, for the 14th year, a Young People's Concert at the Sunset Cultural Center on Feb. 15.

BIG BOOMER — Dorothy Shimer, timpanist with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, demonstrates the "big drum" to Bill Priestley, Bob Priestley, Valerie Williams and Ellen Williams, youngsters who are looking forward to the Youth Concerts coming up on Feb. 15.

Special Children's Concerts Slated for Sunset Theater

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will present two concerts for young people on Saturday morning, Feb. 15, beginning at 10 a.m.

The program selected for the performance is designed to have special appeal for youngsters from third to eighth grades, and will feature solo performances by Andres Erlich, violinist, and Juanity Messerli, pianist, both 16 years of age and winners of the Young Artists Audition conducted last November by the Junior League.

Haymo Taeuber, conductor of the symphony, will comment on each of the works as he conducts.

The concert for Carmel, Carmel Valley and Pacific Grove children will begin at 10 a.m., and a bus from the Carmel Unified School District will pick up children in Carmel Valley.

Carmel parents whose children live beyond walking distance of Sunset Auditorium are urged to form car pools to transport children in their neighborhoods to the concert.

While children under eight years of age are most cordially invited to the concert, they must be accompanied by an adult.

Junior League members will serve as ushers at both concerts. More than 25,000 children have enjoyed these youth concerts since the Junior League began their sponsorship 14 years ago.

Local committee members include Mesdames Robert Priestley, David Hill, John Bohlman and Hans Von Richter.

Children from Monterey and Seaside will be bussed to Sunset for the second concert, which starts at 11:30.

CATHOLIC SCOUT AWARDS

Carmel Mission Basilica will be the setting for the annual presentation of the Catholic religious awards in scouting in the Diocese of Monterey in California.

His Excellency, Bishop Harry A. Clinch, D.D., will offer a special Mass on Scout Sunday, Feb. 9, at 2 p.m. for all Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts of the diocese, during which he will confer the Ad Altare Dei, Parvuli Dei and Marian Awards to all the boys and girls who have satisfactorily completed all the necessary requirements.

All Scouts receiving the awards will have their names entered into the Golden Book, which was presented to the Bishop last year at the first formal award ceremony. Bishop Clinch will be assisted by Rev. James Fallon, Chaplain of the Diocesan Catholic Committee on Scouting, and Msgr. James Marron, Pastor of the Carmel Mission Basilica.

Audubon Wildlife Film Set Feb. 7

The fourth in the series of Audubon Wildlife Films will be presented on Friday, Feb. 7 at the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium, 835 Forest Avenue in Pacific Grove.

"Outback Australia," narrated personally by Eben McMillan, noted rancher-naturalist from Central California, is the result of a 15,000 mile adventurous camping trip in the rugged outposts of Australia.

This is a photographic record of experiences among the wildlife species of continental Australia known as the outback.

Audubon Wildlife Films are sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society and the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

NATIVE AUSSIE — The Australians call him "Joey", the natives call him a kangaroo. No matter what he's called, this animal is one of the great attractions of the land "down under." He's part of the "Outback Australia" Audubon Wildlife Film coming to Pacific Grove Junior High School on Friday, Feb. 7.

Strauss Opera to Air on Feb. 8

"Der Rosenkavalier," Richard Strauss's best-known opera, will be broadcast at 10:30 a.m. over KSCO 1080 kc and KSCO-FM at 99.1 mc, on Saturday, Feb. 8.

The broadcast will begin at 10:30 a.m., instead of the usual 11:00 starting time.

Singing principal roles will be soprano Leonie Rysanek as the Princess of Werderberg, soprano Reri Grist as Sophie, mezzo - soprano Christa Ludwig as Octavian, mezzo-soprano Rosalind Elias as Annina, baritone Walter Berry in the role of Baron Ochs of Lerchenau, tenor Nicolai Gedda as the singer, and baritone Rudolf Knoll as Von Faninal Karl Boehm will conduct.

During the first intermission "Opera News on the Air," Mme. Lotte Lehman who now lives in California will be heard with John Gutman, an assistant manager of the Metropolitan Opera, talking about her operatic career.

Organ Concert at Wayfarer Church

Mrs. Connell Carruth will present an organ concert at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Feb. 9, in the Church of the Wayfarer sanctuary.

Mrs. Carruth has been the Wayfarer organist for many years and is widely known in Monterey Peninsula music circles.

After the concert there will be a reception in honor of Mrs. Carruth in the Garden Room of the church.

Mills College recently dedicated the new pipe organ in its chapel to Mrs. Carruth and her late husband, both of whom had taught music at the college for many years.

The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal 9

What better way to tell your valentine she's very special than with a creation of artful jewelry from Crosby's. She'd love to be the owner of this sparkling jade ring on the left, studded with diamonds or the luxurious opal ring on the right, accented by a petal design and highlighted with diamonds. The 14-karat gold hummingbird decorated with a small ruby and diamonds and ivory wings is still another lovely gift. Carmel Plaza, P.O. Box 5217, Carmel.

Emblem Contest

Like to try your hand at designing an emblem for Monterey County and its official agencies?

The County Board of Supervisors wants one and has authorized a contest to secure ideas, though not necessarily final design.

No money prizes, but, say the Supervisors, "appropriate" recognition will be awarded to the winner or winners. Any County resident may enter.

Entries should be submitted on 8½" x 11" poster board, heavy drawing paper or similar white stock, with entrant's name and address on the back.

Contestants may call E. W. DeMars at the Planning Department, Monterey County Courthouse, Salinas for further information. The five judges, one from each supervisorial district, will be appointed by the Board.

Oil by Joyce Jenkins

Variety at Associated

By Louise Cook

The Associated Artist's Gallery in Carmel Square on San Carlos St. features an interesting variety of artists. Their most important contributor is Joyce Jenkins, a member of the Carmel Art Association.

Miss Jenkins creates her flower and still-life paintings in masses of opulent color, in a painterly fashion with tall. Her seascapes reveal pared down attention to detail, an entirely different facet of her talent, showing a greater regard for detail and a completely divergent palette.

Marian Barnett is represented by oil studies of roses in variations of a single color.

Rural scenes in oil by Riley Stevenson have good color and a feeling of atmosphere and space.

Xirli uses the unusual medium of sand for her figure painting showing the hand of a good craftsman.

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Another book about Louis XIV, of which we already have several, but each new one professes to reveal new facets of his complex character. This one is entitled Louis XIV and was written by John Wolf who is a Professor of History at the University of Chicago.

Each time a writer takes up the life of Louis XIV, he does so from a particular standpoint. This time it is from the view of the king as a warrior and diplomat, showing the important role he played in the history of the Europe of his day.

Included also, of course, are his many love affairs, and his many illnesses.

At the back of the book are forty pages of notes, for the more studious reader, and following this are several pages of index for the rest of us.

Banish forever from your thought that decoupage is the art of cutting flower pictures out of an old seed catalog and pasting them on paper or canvas. A new book entitled Decoupage shows this delightful art as being art indeed, and it's results on furniture particularly beautiful.

Directions in the book are complete and include lists of necessary materials. The author is Patricia Nimocks.

Judd Teller has a new book which is partly autobiography and partly a history of the American Jews. The title is Strangers and Natives.

The story, if it is a story, dates from the year 1921, which was a year of momentous importance to the Jewish people in America, and it continues through 1967.

The author is a trained reporter of history and since he actually lived much of which he writes, his ability is heightened by insight and experience.

Once upon a time this Librarian knew a woman who's mother was born in Ireland and who said she had often seen and talked with the "little people". She spoke often of how kind they were and what a normal person had to be and do to be able to see them at all, at all.

This week we have a book by another woman who has seen and talked with the "little people" in Ireland and her name is Eileen Garrett. Her new book entitled Many Voices, The Autobiography Of A Medium, is the story of her life as a psychic.

In 1941, with little money and neither knowledge nor experience in publishing, she started a publishing house known as Creative Age Press which published a magazine and books on psychic subjects.

Mrs. Garrett says that interest in psychic subjects is dying because people have little time to sit quietly and think. Instead, they turn on the television. If she is right, it's a pity.

Read this book and perhaps you will learn to make time to sit and think.

If you do not have a Library Patron parking sticker for your car, please come in and ask for one. By putting this sticker in the rear window of your car, you become eligible to use the library parking lot on the corner, and this should prove a real convenience for you. Don't neglect this!

Ruth Galvin Thornburg
Chief Librarian.

Stamp Program for Low Income Group Opens This Month

Low-income families and individuals who are not receiving welfare payments may be eligible for the Federal Food Stamp Program, according to the United States Department of Agriculture and the Monterey County Welfare Department.

The program opened Feb. 3 in Monterey County. Only households whose application has been received and processed by the Welfare Department by Feb. 19 will be able to buy food coupons in February. Those missing the Feb. 19 deadline must wait until March to begin using the coupons.

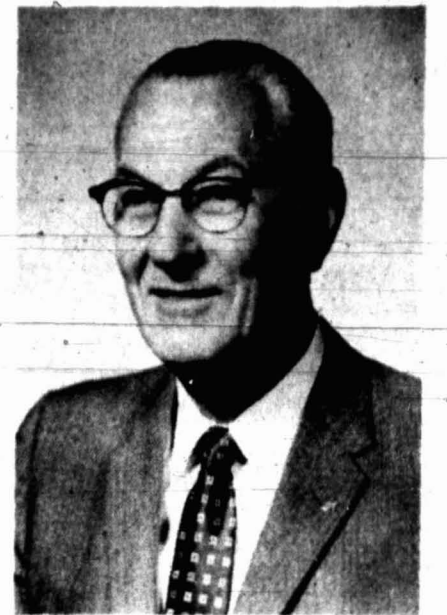

Prospective coupon users are urged to visit the Welfare Department now to avoid the rush of people expected to apply during the last week preceding the deadline date.

Most households receiving public assistance automatically are eligible for the Food Stamp Program, and those who have applied are now being certified. But the program also is open to other low-income people, depending on their income and resources.

Information on the Food Stamp Program is available from Monterey County Welfare Department offices in Monterey.

OBITUARY

William Bray, 79, Carmel resident for 20 years, died Feb. 3. A retired carpenter, he and his wife lived at Castro lane and Pescadero road in Carmel. He was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church and the Rev. David Hill officiated at his funeral.

Ted Lachelt

Hi-12 Will Hear World Traveler

More than 200 reservations have been listed for the Carmel High Twelve annual Ladies Day Valentine Party scheduled for noon, Monday, Feb. 10, in the Monterey Elk's Club social rooms.

Ted Lachelt, of Del Mesa Carmel, who ran a tour office in Oakland for 50 years and is a confirmed globe trotter in his own right, will be the principal speaker.

During his stint as a travel agent, the Lachelts did considerable traveling to gain on-site experience in the field.

After half a century of searching for spot to live, they finally realized the end of their quest in Del Mesa Carmel.

Surprise door prizes of special scope will be offered at the party.

Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor star in "Doctor Faustus" which introduces the Oxford University Dramatic Society in minor roles. The Columbia Pictures release in Technicolor is a Burtons production directed by Richard Burton and Nevill Coghill. "Doctor Faustus" is being presented by the Carmel Museum of Art at Carmel's Village Theater, Wednesday, Feb. 19 and Thursday, Feb. 20, at 2 p.m. 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased now at the Carmel Museum of Art, Dolores and 7th, Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Only tickets purchased at the Museum benefit the Museum.

'Doctor Faustus' Will Screen As Benefit for Carmel Museum of Art

The Carmel Museum of Art is presenting the Burtons' production of "Doctor Faustus" on Feb. 19 and 20 at the Carmel Village Theater.

The legend of "Doctor Faustus" or Faust, the scholar who sold his soul to the devil in exchange for youth, knowledge and a woman, had its origins in the 16th Century, in the time of an actual German conjuror of that name.

The Columbia Pictures release stars Richard Burton in the title role with Elizabeth Taylor appearing as Helen of Troy, the beauty whom Faust summons from the ancient past after he has sold his soul.

"Doctor Faustus," is based on the play by Christopher Marlowe, first presented in 1588, in the London of William Shakespeare and the Globe Theater. This screen version of the Faust legend is not the first; there have been others.

One of the earliest "color" films in motion picture history was a French-made feature based on the story of Faust. Every frame in which the devil appeared was carefully hand-painted so that underworld character appeared to audiences in his true color, a flaming red which, with age and the heat of the projector lamps, gradually faded into a lovely pink.

The Faust legend has been the subject of several operas, the most famous being the Gounod masterwork based on the Goethe drama; this first was heard in Paris in 1859 and in London and New York in 1863. This is the opera which also was put on film in Italy as "Faust and the Devil" with Italo Tajo, Nelly Corradi and Gina Matarra, by producer Gregor Rabbinovitch and director Carmine Gallone.

Stephen Vincent Benet, the American poet and writer, made the Faust legend a piece of American literature with his story "Devil and Daniel Webster." When it was filmed, Walter Huston played Old Scratch and Edward Arnold the redoubtable Daniel Webster whose patriotic oratory won back the soul of James Craig, playing a young New England farmer trapped by greed and lust for Simone Simone. The film was released as "All That Money Can Buy" as well as under its original title.

Performances: 2:00 p.m., 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 19 and Thursday, Feb. 20.

Tickets purchased at the museum benefit the Carmel Museum of Art, Dolores and 7th in Carmel open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Human Relations Workshop at MPC

Two human relationships workshops are scheduled to start in February at Monterey Peninsula College, with each to run one night a week for 12 consecutive weeks, and each limited to a group of 15 persons.

Workshop No. 1, to begin Wednesday, Feb. 19, and run Wednesday evenings thereafter, 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in MPC's business conference room, will be led by Edward Farrington, chairman of the college's psychology department. In describing the goals of the workshops, Farrington, who has done extensive work in the Field of group dynamics, says: "From this type of group experience participants have reported that they feel closer to their loved ones, can recognize and communicate their real feelings more clearly, feel more relaxed and comfortable with people and are able to be more honest with themselves and others."

Workshop No. 2, to meet Thursday evenings starting Feb. 20, will be led by Joseph Ustick, an MPC counselor who has specialized in group dynamics for the past five years, working with "approaches" in encounter, sensitivity, transactional analysis, psychodrama and training groups. A member of the American Psychological Association, he says human relationships workshops "give participants an opportunity to better understand themselves by sharing their experiences with others."

Inquiries regarding specific workshops may be addressed to Farrington or Ustick at MPC, 980 Fremont, Monterey (375-9821). Advance registration is recommended.

New Fishing Regulations

New sportfishing regulations booklets for 1969 now are available from license agents and Department of Fish and Game offices throughout the state.

The new regulations go into effect March 1 and will remain in effect until March 1 of next year.

In response to a number of inquiries, the Department today pointed out that the salmon limit for ocean sportfishing will remain at three fish from the opening of the season February 15 until March 1 when the limit will be decreased to two fish.

An ad in the Pine Cone has a 7-times-better chance to be read than an ad in a daily newspaper.

One-Act Plays At Carmel Hi School

A group of one-act plays will be presented Saturday evening, Feb. 8, in Brey Hall at the Carmel High School. The plays will be given "rehearsal" production—with a minimum of scenery to embellish the work of the student actors from Carmel High's drama classes.

This first public presentation of theater at the high school this year is to serve a two-fold purpose. The drama department would like to submit a one-act play to a major drama festival later in the year.

The audience will be asked to vote for their choice from this collection of plays. Thus, as well as providing an entertaining evening of live theater, the audience vote will help decide what play should be submitted to the festival. A new group of one-acts will be offered for similar presentation in the near future.

The program will start at 8:00 p.m.

Sunset Notes

by Dr. James E. Gilman

Put a big red circle around the 15th of February. Why? Because that's the day the kids are going to take you to Sunset Auditorium to enjoy a performance by the County Symphony.

Your ticket of admission is to be accompanied by one of the junior set, eighth graders and younger. It's just like the San Diego Zoo, where one of the signs reads: "Adults admitted only when accompanied by a child."

The Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula started the whole thing fifteen years ago when they decided to sponsor a Young People's Concert. It was the League's way of introducing good music to the youngsters. It also introduced good music to many of the oldsters.

Since its inception, more than 25,000 boys and girls have attended the concerts. For many of them it was their first exposure to a live orchestra, playing the kind of music they should be exposed to in school, but so often are not.

Two concerts will be given at Sunset on the 15th. The first, at 10 a.m. is for the Carmel and Carmel Valley children. A repeat performance at 11:30 a.m. is for the children from the rest of the Peninsula.

The Carmel School District will provide at least one bus for the Carmel Valley children. Carmel children will not be bussed.

The concert will open with von Suppe's "Light Cavalry Overture." Mozart's "Violin Concerto in D Major" will follow and will feature Andrew Erlich as guest artist. Robert Schumann's "Piano Concerto in A Minor" will be played by Juanita Messerli, pianist.

Miss Messerli and Mr. Erlich were winners in the annual Young Artist Auditions held last November by the Junior League.

"Roses from the South" by Johann Strauss will follow. The concert will close with John Philip Sousa's rousing "Stars and Stripes."

Haymo Taeuber will conduct the Symphony Orchestra.

Carmel Music Society

Pianist Young Uck Kim will appear as guest soloist at a concert sponsored by the Carmel Music Society, Saturday, Feb. 15 at 8:30 p.m. at Carmel's Sunset Auditorium.

Kim, a native of Korea, won his first prize in an important contest when he was barely eight years old.

Paul Hume, music editor of the Washington Post, had this to say about Kim's talent: "When he starts to play thoughts of his relative youth drop away as you realize that you are in the presence of one of those miracles whereby a human being has been given the rare gift of understanding music, and perhaps rarer still, the power to communicate its meaning."

For tickets and further information call 624-1109 or write Carmel Music Society Box Office, Box 1144, Carmel.

Photography Exhibit

The Minor White exhibit of fine photography is on display at the studios of the Friends of Photography at the Center.

The exhibit is open daily, except Mondays, from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Carmel Travelers

(Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bannister of Orinda have had a summer vacation home in Carmel. They are presently on a tour of South America, and their amusing letters will be carried periodically in the Pine Cone.)

As if we hadn't had enough to worry us, Charlie Turner inadvertently called one of the South American Stewardesses "Waitress", and then and there we thought we had another revolution on our hands!

We have been told that the postal system in South America is not the most reliable. They had a postal strike in one country down here that lasted for a month! Consequently, I am not mailing many things home, so will probably arrive looking like a refugee from a rummage sale! Also, I am making carbon copies of "the letter" being sent back for mimeographing, so if some don't get through, at least I will have a copy and will fill you in if you're interested!

We left Panama in a pelting rain storm, complete with thunder and lightning. I think we finally got the message — Panama just wasn't ready for the Golfing Gouchos!

Although we arrived in Lima from Panama on Saturday night (actually Sunday morning at 1:00 a.m.), I will describe Lima after the trip to Cuzco and Machu Picchu, since we only spent the night there, arising at 5:30 to leave for the airport to make the flight to Cuzco. On our arrival at the hotel in Lima, we did take time to have one Pisco Sour before retiring, even though it was almost 2 o'clock, and we had to re-pack and respond to a 5:30 a.m. call! Pisco is a grape brandy made in Peru, and Pisco Sour is the national drink. We have been completely converted to this delectable nectar while in Peru (and also in Chile), and herewith offer the recipe — 3 parts Pisco, 1 part lime juice, little sugar, white of egg and mix all in blender; top with dash of Angostura Bitters — Muy Bueno!!

Our trip to Cuzco and Machu Picchu was certainly one of the highlights so far, and although it was pretty strenuous, we wouldn't have missed it for the world.

The flight from Lima to Cuzco was about 2½ hours, since we were on a propeller plane rather than a jet, but because of this, we were able to fly low enough to really see the mountains — in fact, some times we were flying between peaks of the Andes covered with snow. Up until this year the planes flying into Cuzco were not pressurized, and it was necessary to take oxygen through a tube. However, a new airport has been built which accommodates the larger planes, so all the flights in now are in pressurized cabins.

Cuzco is said to be the oldest continuously inhabited city in the western hemisphere, and after seeing our hotel, we were convinced! This city was the capital of the Inca Empire before it was conquered by the Spaniards, but it is still quite primitive, and many of the natives still wear the native costumes.

Cuzco is situated 11,000 feet above sea level, so we were advised to go directly to our hotel and lie down and rest before lunch. I was sure this advice wouldn't be necessary for me, but the trip from the airport to the hotel convinced me. For the first few hours, I felt quite light-headed and did take a rest before going out sight-seeing. Several members of our group unfortunately did suffer from the altitude, but we all managed to make the trip to Machu Picchu the following day. Intense headache and nausea is the result of failure to adjust to the altitude, and those who suffered said it was no fun!

The native people of Cuzco are from different tribes, and the hats they wear identify them. These people have developed strong lungs living in this rarefied atmosphere, and their stature is rather short, but with broad shoulders and chest.

You may think "jogging" as a national pastime is fairly recent, but you're wrong — these people have been doing it for centuries — and with packs on their backs besides!

The women carry their babies papoose-style in a large bright colored shawl, and the men carry lengths of rope to tie any bundles they may contract to move, also in shawls tied to their backs.

Don't fight it.

Let's face it, wet wash is a real monster. Why fight it? Without a dryer you're the victim.

It means that every year you lug 2,000 pounds 40 miles in round trips from house to clothesline. You pinch and unpinch about 10,000 clothespins. And you spend needless hours ironing the press back into permanent press clothes. So why fight it? See your appliance dealer now about a new clothes dryer

(In the August 22 issue of the Pine Cone we carried an article by Gunnar Norberg warning of the perils of oil exploration. The present problems with drillers in the Santa Barbara Channel with its attendant danger to wildlife, fish and the balance of nature, prompts us to reprint Norberg's article in the public interest.)

OIL EXPLORATION PERIL

By GUNNAR NORBERG

Sometimes just a few words in the right place in the right law, can have a far reaching effect on what can happen to one's own treasured bit of the world.

The few words mentioned here, could—if enacted into law by the state legislature—stop oil companies from getting permits to explore for oil in the off-shore areas of Monterey County which, of course, include Carmel Bay and adjacent waters.

The words to which I refer, were framed into a sentence by Carmel City Attorney William Burleigh and Monterey City Attorney William Marsh, and were presented at last week's meeting of the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments (AMBAG), which approved their intent.

AMBAG will circulate the Burleigh-Marsh wording to the cities and counties making up AMBAG, probably by the end of this month. It will then be up to the individual cities and counties to act to convey their views to the state legislature concerning the exploration for oil in Monterey County's submerged off-shore lands.

If the cities and counties were to react as the AMBAG board did last week, a long step toward introduction of state legislation to stop off-shore oil exploration along the beautiful Monterey County coast, would then have been taken.

In addition to the formal action which may be taken by city councils or boards of supervisors, individual citizens can, of course, also make themselves heard, either through appropriate organizations to which they may belong, or separately in person, by phone, or by mail.

And right now, here in Carmel, there are probably summer visitors from all the principal cities of California, and many of these—if past experience is any guide—probably would be as earnest in a desire to stop off-shore oil exploration here as any dyed-in-the-wool Carmelite who has lived here for many years. If this should be their view, and if they should wish to contact their respective state senators and state assemblymen in this regard, the success of the proposed law-making effort could be more certainly assured.

But just what are the words? And just where is the place in the state law where they should be inserted?

Here's the Burleigh-Marsh sentence, which would be added to the first paragraph of Section 6826 of the Public Resources Code:

"No permit for geological or geophysical surveys for the purpose of exploration for oil or gas, shall be granted on State lands excluded as sanctuaries under Section 6871.2 of this code."

State lands, you ask? And sanctuaries? Just what do those terms mean in this context?

Three miles out to sea from the California coastline, is identified as "state lands." And "sanctuaries" are specially protected off-shore areas. Due to the efforts of former State Senator Fred Farr, who wished to retain the unspoiled beauty of the scenically unequalled seaward vistas along the Monterey County coastline, and who felt that the prospect of possible giant oil rigs marring the unparalleled views would be intolerable, initiated legislation—now known as Section 6871.2—which defined off-shore Monterey County areas as "sanctuaries," and which forbade the State Lands Commission from signing any lease with any oil company for "the extraction of oil and gas" from those areas.

But, you ask, isn't that all the law that's needed? Until now, it has been enough, but this may be simply due to the fact that no oil company has yet found what it considered to be a potentially interesting off-shore "find."

Meanwhile oil companies have sought and received permits to "explore" for oil and gas in Monterey County's off-shore coastal areas. One such permit was issued last May to the Marathon Oil Company by the State Lands Commission, and this permit allows exploration by that company to continue until next November.

Last May, however, when notice of the permit issued to Marathon Oil, came to the attention of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, that Board didn't just order the notice filed. Even though the Board had no power to veto the action of the State Lands Commission, it decided to make its voice heard, and probably considerably startled the Lands Commission which would not have expected to hear at all from any local County Board in such a matter.

Supervisor Willard Branson, who represents much of the Monterey Peninsula, made a motion addressed to the State Lands Commission saying the Monterey County Board of Supervisors was "opposed to any submarine explorations in the off-shore areas of Monterey County." The motion was seconded by Supervisor Loren Smith, who represents the rest of the Monterey Peninsula including Seaside and Fort Ord. Branson and Smith were joined by south county Supervisor Robert Wood to make up the Board majority which approved the Branson motion.

In addition to suggesting the amending wording for the state legislature to use to stop oil exploration off the Monterey County coastline, City Attorneys Burleigh and Marsh framed a draft resolution which could be used by city councils and boards of supervisors to convey their hoped-for opposition to the exploration permits. The last two "whereas" paragraphs of this draft resolution may perhaps best convey to you, the potential peril in granting oil exploration permits. Here are the paragraphs:

"WHEREAS, no oil company would expend the considerable money necessary for exploration unless it hoped to find oil or gas deposits, and hoped to be able to extract them. If a major deposit of oil or gas were to be discovered in one of the lands excluded for extraction of oil, it would merely be necessary for the State Legislature to amend the Public Resources Code to permit the extraction of the oil."

"WHEREAS, it is inconsistent to permit the exploration for oil and gas if extraction of the oil or gas is prohibited. It would therefore be consistent to prohibit exploration for oil or gas in areas from which the legislature has prohibited the extraction of oil or gas."

At last week's AMBAG Board meeting, which was held at the Casa Munras in Monterey, Mayor Minnie Coyle, who heads AMBAG, suggested that the city attorneys—Burleigh and Marsh—might wish to do further work on the wording of the proposals to stop the oil exploration which was being discussed.

BUSINESS CHAIRMAN — Appointment of Phillip Oberg, left, of Carmel, as the Monterey County Business chairman for the Central Mission Trails Heart Association's 1969 Heart Fund Campaign was recently announced by Don McAnaney, right, 1969 Heart Fund Business Chairman. Army Nurse Corps Offers Wide Selection of Education, Posts

The Army Nurse Corps is offering registered professional nurses direct commissions and assignments to the location of their choice.

They may select from Army hospitals at which vacancies exist throughout the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Europe and Vietnam.

The men and women of the Army Nurse Corps serve in the grade of second lieutenant through colonel, depending upon their educational background, professional experience, record of performance and length of service.

Nurses in the Army have responsibility for direct patient care, supervision and administration. In addition, they serve in consultant and advisory positions; participate in research projects; assist in mercy missions and instruct courses in nursing science.

Professional in-service education programs are conducted at Army hospitals on a continuing basis. Provisions are also made for advanced education in clinical specialties, attendance at advanced staff courses and post graduate programs and long-term civilian education at the bachelor's master's and doctorate levels. Army nurses keep abreast of new trends in nursing by participating in the seminars and short courses sponsored by both the Army and civilian professional organizations.

Additional information about the benefits and requirements of service in the Army Nurse Corps and about the Army Nurse Corps programs of financial education assistance, can be obtained from Sgt. Jose Garcia at the local recruiting station Post Office Building in Monterey or call 372-4742.

Herb Blanks Retires from AUS

Former Carmel Mayor Lt. Col. Herbert B. Blanks retired from the U. S. Army Reserve last month after 26 years combined active and reserve duty.

Along with six other officers and enlisted men, Blanks was honored at a retirement parade at Sixth Army Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco, on Jan. 28.

Blanks served the greater part of his active army career in the infantry, with units in New Guinea, the Philippine Islands and Korea.

Upon his retirement, he had been serving with the 351st Civil Affairs Area in Mountain View.

In addition to other awards, Col. Blanks holds the Bronze Star Medal and the Army Commendation Medal.

Vocal Recital By Music Teachers

A delightful evening of vocal music was presented by the Music Teacher's Association of the Monterey Peninsula at the Carmel Museum of Art on Tuesday evening.

Planned as a workshop demonstration of vocal technique and possibilities, the program proved to be a recital of professional caliber.

Norma Jean Hodges was one of those singing as well as her two pupils, Miss Lynn Fryback and Miss Carol Stark. Mrs. Hjordis Halter, contralto, sang Norwegian songs, followed by ensemble music by members of Nancy Ness Bowman's Opera Workshop which includes Jean Canada, Nancy Hurdle, Joe Messineo, Shui Ming Chan, Jacklyn Hungerland and Donald Whitsett.

Edgemere Action—

(Continued from Page 1) as Edgemere's would be considered until steps to amend the existing questioned ordinance were to be taken, satisfied few objectors, who wondered why so much effort appeared to be made to accommodate Edgemere and so little effort seemed to be made to hear the "voice of the people."

Nearly half of last night's meeting time was gone when the Council reached the second item on its long agenda. This was also a hearing matter, as were the third and fourth items. First reading was given to an ordinance defining certain business activities, while another ordinance, giving the Planning Commission authority to vary building frontages in the commercial zones, was returned to that Commission for further study. A long-pending subdivision ordinance was given second reading and adoption.

Bruce Langford, a state highway engineer, asked the Council to consider, in cooperation with the Division of Highways, plans to make Highway 1—opposite Carmel—a scenic highway. The matter was referred to the City Planning Commission and to the Area Planning Commission.

Other Actions

In other action the City Council authorized the American Legion to place a memorial to honor those who

Violin Recital

Michael Rosenker of Carmel, the distinguished violin soloist and former concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic and Metropolitan Opera Orchestra who has been an instructor in the Monterey Peninsula College music department since last fall, will present his students in a violin recital Sunday, Feb. 16, at 8:30 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall.

The performers include Erik Spritzer, Lynne Stone, Christine Beckstrom, Andrew Erlich, Mark Spritzer, George Beck and Henry Baron.

The entire ensemble will end the program with a presentation of "Allegro" from "Sonata No. 3" by J. S. Bach.

Frederick Schaad of Carmel will accompany the performers on the piano.

The recital is open to the public without charge. No tickets will be required for admission.

have died in wars which have taken place since World War II. The memorial is to be placed in the center strip at Lincoln and Ocean.

The Council also authorized a time-payment plan for past-due rent in a room occupied at Sunset Center by Lenore Woolams, so long as current rent is regularly paid.

Special provision to control library-patron parking at the 6th & Lincoln parking lot, was approved, and details controlling budgeting for the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments (AMBAG) were accepted.

Crime Open Forum

A Peninsula-wide open forum on the controversial federal "Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968" will be held in Monterey Peninsula Area Service Center in Seaside next Thursday night, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

All citizens interested in law and order and the preservation of justice are urged to attend this meeting, merely to listen or to express opinions.

'Under The Yum Yum Tree' Opens

Irene exudes confidence and great style.

And once again, kudos to the production staff headed by Bob Evans, Jr., whose sets and lighting were outstanding, and to John Nichols, who constructed the sets, and Jeff Stein, stage manager and assistant to Dave Kirk.

Altogether, "Yum Yum" is a more than adequate successor to "Guys," and when coupled with the "Yum Yum" dinner the Studio serves, this becomes one of the finest theater buys on the Peninsula.

Thinking of selling your home?

If you are planning to sell a house in the Carmel area in the next few years the time is now right. Due to the lack of new home building over the past several years there is a relative scarcity of good houses for sale now, so we are presently in a "seller's market" with a steady demand from newcomers to the area. High interest rates are not an especial deterrent and in fact may be an advantage to you if you want to carry a first deed of trust, but this is optional.

We will be glad to discuss your property with you and advise you to the best of our ability concerning its current value with no obligation whatsoever on your part.
